Alan R. Fornwalt, P.E. named 2007 Young Engineer of the Year by Pennsylvania Society of Professional Engineers and American Society of Civil Engineers

Press Release

Wescosville, PA – February 2008 – Alan R. Fornwalt, P.E., due to his exceptional accomplishments as a Project Engineer for Keystone Consulting Engineers, was named Young Engineer of the Year by both the Pennsylvania Society of Professional Engineers and American Society of Civil Engineers. Alan's recent engineering activities, which influenced the award, included design and construction management responsibilities for projects in Upper and Lower Macungie Township and for St. Luke's Hospital:

- In July 2007, Alan designed, coordinated and managed a Upper Macungie construction project that upgraded both the storm sewer facilities and railroad grade crossing on Route 100.
- In September 2007, Alan was involved with the design and construction of signalization and improvements to the East Texas Road/Willow Lane/Lower Macungie Road intersections.
- In the fall of 2007, Alan was also significantly involved in construction of a parking lot for St. Luke's Hospital/Fountain Hill.
